City honors former councilmen

By: Roger McKinney, Reporter

Falmouth Mayor Mark Hart presented former councilmen Stan Love and Jason Gregg with documents of accomplishment for their dedicated service to the city at the Falmouth City Council January 8, 2013 meeting. These documents included: Governor Beshear commissions declaring the two Kentucky Colonels, Proclamations of Appreciation from the city of Falmouth and Certificates of Recognition from the Kentucky State Senate and the Kentucky House of Representatives signed by Senator Katie Stine and Representative Tom McKee. The mayor and the council

Ladycats to honor Hall of Fame recipients

At the end of the 2011-12 season, the 10th Region Girls Coaches Association selected into the 10th Region Hall of Fame two Ladycats. They will be honored at the Ladycats game versus Augusta on January 15 with tip off scheduled at 7:30 p.m.

Jenna Kelsch O'Hara was selected as a player for her play as point guard of the Ladycats from 1999-2004, starting on one of the best Ladycat teams in school history.

David Tackett was honored as a supporter for his 37+ years of support as a coach at the elementary, middle school and high school levels.

"Both Jenna and Mr. Tackett have been important parts of the Ladycat's basketball history." PCHS Athletic Director Keith Smith commented on the selection and recognition. "Their selection is well deserved and we are thrilled to be able to recognize them for what we already knew, they are some of the best in 10th Region basketball history."

Earlier in the evening, the Wildcats Varsity team will host Conner in a boys game starting at 6 p.m. The Pendleton Recreation Competitive squad and the PCHS CheerCats will perform their competitive routines at halftime of the Wildcats game.

Tip sends police to search for missing teen

Where is Paige Johnson? After two years, that is still the question police and family want an answer to. Covington Police received a tip on January 11 that Paige's bones could be found in an old cistern behind a building at 35th and Decoursey Street in Latonia. Covington Police and a K-9 Unit searched the property in Latonia Saturday morning and into the afternoon. Water and sewer employees climbed down into the old cistern handing up bucket after bucket of dirt that police sifted through hoping to finally bring closure for the family. But the only bones found were animal bones. Some neighbors gathered to watch and wait as did several family members. According to neighbors of the property, the business used to be a pottery place and was the location for Johnson's vigil in September of 2010. Neighbors said the lady that rented the pottery business was a mentor/friend to Johnson. Seventeen-year-old Johnson went missing on September 23, 2010 when Jacob Bumpass, the last person to see her, admitted to dropping the Florence teen off that night in Covington. Bumpass has long been a person of interest, but has never been charged. He was recently released from prison for a parole violation in connection with a separate incident. Johnson's mother declared her legally dead a year ago. However, friends and some family members are holding out hope. Police and investigators are weary of countless searches they have done with dead ends. Still they said they will leave no stone unturned and exhaust every possible lead to find Paige. Should anyone in our area know anything about her disappearance they can call the Covington Police Department at (859)-292-2222. Information and photo by Debbie Dennie who was by chance near the old building as the search was taking place.

Car found in Licking River

A car belonging to a Campbell County resident was found in the Licking River at the Moreland curve near the intersection of KY 177 and KY 609 Highway near Butler early Saturday, January 12. Officers from the Pendleton County Sheriff's office and from Kentucky State Police responded to the area. Pendleton County Search and Rescue responded and helped get vehicle out of river. Chief Deputy Sheriff Todd Dennie is working the investigation. Sheriff's deputy TJ Hawk and KSP Tpr. Jason Ritter were the other officers there. Photo by April DeFalco.

Mason Monroe stands tall as Wildcats second all-time leading scorer

By: Sam McClanahan, Reporter

The first hurdle was eclipsed on a handmade court, inside of a small pole barn on Broadford road.

A one-on-one game played between father and son, a game that had been contested countless times before finally ended in a different result. The boy, around 12 years of age, stood alone above his competition. It would be the first of many milestones to come in the life of Mason Monroe.

Fast forward six years later, to the second quarter of an early January home game between the Wildcats and Calvary Christian, and there's Monroe; coming around a screen and elevating for a pull-up jumper at the left elbow, a shot he's mastered over the course of his life. The ball splashes through the basket, and Monroe finds himself alone again as he surpassed

Bobby Wyatt for second place on the all-time scoring list in the history of Pendleton County boys basketball. The Wildcats public address announcer notified the home crowd of Monroe's historic achievement and he received a deafening standing ovation. He walked off the court with an even 1,900 points.

To fully appreciate what Monroe has been able to do, one must first be willing to acknowledge that perception isn't always reality.

To the casual fan, Monroe might come off as the least likely guy to put up such gaudy numbers. The basketball media guide lists him at five-foot-nine, but that's only true if he's standing on it. His slight frame may suggest that he can't absorb contact from opponents that often outweigh him by 75-100 lbs., but then you see him drive the lane, take the punishment and convert an

Falmouth Firefighters battle blaze on Robbins Avenue

Falmouth firefighters responded to a two-story structure blaze just before 1:30 p.m. on Monday, January 14.

The rental property occupied by Jerry and Hope Spegal of 506 Robbins Avenue erupted in smoke and flames from the kitchen area in the back part of the home.

The fire is believed to have been electrical and started in the kitchen ceiling or floor of the upstairs.

Three trucks from the Falmouth Fire Department were dispatched to the scene as well as the Falmouth Police Department, Pendleton County Ambulance Service and the American Red Cross. They were at the location until 4 p.m.

The case is still under investigation as of this time.

No further details were available as of press time.

February 1 opening for new Dollar General Market

Dollar General Store Manager Adam Taylor said on Monday, January 14 that he was told that the new store Dollar General Market in Falmouth will open on February 1 as of now.

Student's threat taken seriously by school and police

Falmouth Assistant Chief Lt. Col. J.P. Tucker was conducting a "Walk and Talk" Patrol at Southern Elementary School, on January 11, 2013 when he was approached by school officials concerning an issue with a student. The student had made several statements to classmates about bringing a weapon to the school and shooting as many people as he could. The student was immediately contained and the areas which he had previously occupied were searched for illegal contraband and weapons. The student was charged with the felony offense of terroristic threatening 1st degree and ordered detained by a judge's order and subsequently lodged in the Juvenile Detention Center. Several other aspects were mentioned during the suspect's interview, and these aspects were investigated and found to be false.

Butler mayor appoints mayor pro tem

The Butler Fire Department report given by Chief David Marquardt, at the Butler City Council meeting on Monday January 7, 2013. Marquardt said the fire department had some runs to Williams Place Apartments and are working with management to set up some regulations and rules for them that must be followed.

Butler Mayor Alice Smith told Council Chief Hale will be going to school sometime in March.

McElfresh said that he and Brenda were giving up taking care of landscape in the city. He doesn't like the handicap parking spaces across the street, he thinks the city needs some policing up in the town and there's some obscenities painted on someone's garage doors.

In other business:

- Meter lids to be let soon, mussel study to be done in August, roof contractor is waiting for warmer weather and city rented a garage from John Peoples, we are all out of the barn.

- Mayor appointed Bonnie Bonar as mayor pro tem and she did accept.

- Council will pay reimbursing part $25, on mayor's cell phone.

- Discussion about nuisance ordinance with attorney. Next step is Chief Hale to issue letters on nuisance ordinance.

- Discussion about conference by KLC that is open to newly elected officials.

- Mayor introduced Mary McDowell as activities co-coordinator.

- Taylor thanked everyone that worked on

Pendleton County Historical & Genealogical Society meeting Jan. 19

The Pendleton County Historical & Genealogical Society will meet at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, January 19.

The meeting place is at the Fryer House on the northeast corner of KY 177 and US 27.

If you're interested in your community history, please come to the meeting and take an active part in your Historical Society's future.

Volunteer for a committee or offer some unique talent that you have. This meeting is the place to make yourself and your ideas known.

Your historical society is important to the community and new members are welcome. Not a member? Join at the meeting.

All members are encouraged to attend. Memberships run from January to December each year so this meeting is the first one in your membership year.

P.C. Cooperative of Churches to meet

The Pendleton County Cooperative of Churches will hold their bi-monthly meeting at the Falmouth Wesleyan Church on January 17, 2013. The meeting will start at 7 p.m.

All county churches are encouraged to attend and bring your prayer requests, ideas and concerns. Together the churches can accomplish so much more for the Kingdom of God in this county, on this earth, than if separated without communication.

So, as the new year begins, let the churches come together and discuss what needs to be done.

BBB encourage safety in 2013

BBB is encouraging consumers to be smarter, safer consumers in 2013. By following these 10 simple New Year's resolutions, consumers will be prepared to combat scammers and protect themselves from fraud:

1. Do your research. Whether it's a business you want to hire or product you want to buy, take time to do your research. Check a company's BBB Business Review at www.bbb.org. For product information, go to the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

2. Keep your computer safe. Install anti-virus software and regularly check for software and operating system updates. Don't open attachments or click on links in emails unless the email came from someone you know and trust.

3. Get it in writing. Don't just take a business's word for it. Get every verbal agreement in writing to limit miscommunication and misunderstandings.

4. Never wire money to someone you don't know. Many scams require money to be wired back to the scammers. Tracking money sent via a money wiring service is almost impossible.

5. Protect your identity. Shred paper documents that include sensitive financial data and dispose of computers, cell phones and digital data safely. Safely store all personal documents, such as your Social Security card, pull your credit report at least once a year and check credit/bank statements frequently.

6. Shop on trustworthy websites. Online shopping has increasingly become more popular, so before you provide any personal or banking information over the web make sure you're using a trusted site. Look for the "s" in <https://> as opposed to <http://> in the address box.

7. Give wisely. To ensure your time, treasure, and talent are going to the cause you're looking to support, research all charities at www.give.org to check their legitimacy and to see how their monetary donations are distributed.

8. Don't be pressured. If a company, organization, or salesperson uses overly-aggressive sales tactics to pressure you into making a purchase or on-the-spot decision, that's a red flag. Walk away.

9. Limit the amount of information shared on social media pages. Scammers use social media sites to gather information on potential victims. Avoid sharing too much personal information and check your privacy settings. Never announce on a social media site that you are going out of town, or won't be home.

10. Let your BBB help. BBB is here to promote marketplace trust. If you have an issue with a business or feel you have been scammed, file a complaint with your BBB.

Kentuckians can reduce risk of cancer

Kentuckians can reduce cancer risk through healthy lifestyle choices in 2013.

Guidelines on nutrition and physical activity for cancer prevention from the American Cancer Society stress the importance of healthy behaviors. The American Cancer Society estimates that about half of all cancer deaths are preventable if health is made a top lifestyle priority.

American Cancer Society guidelines for maintaining a healthy lifestyle and reducing cancer risk include four major recommendations:

1) Achieve and maintain a healthy weight throughout life.

2) Adopt a physically active lifestyle with at least 150 minutes of moderate intensity or 75 minutes of vigorous exercise activity each week.

3) Consume a healthy diet, with an emphasis on eating at least 2.5 cups of vegetables and fruits each day.

4) Limit consumption of alcoholic beverages to no more than one drink per day for women or two per day for men.

Avoiding tobacco products altogether is one of the most important steps to a healthier body. Tobacco use remains the single largest preventable cause of cancer and premature death in the country. Quitting smoking can add up to 10 valuable years to a person's life.

Getting recommended routine cancer screening check-ups and examinations can be lifesaving. Regular screenings performed by a health care professional can help find cancer early when it is easiest to treat. At least half of all new cancer cases are cancer types that can be prevented or detected earlier by screening. Depending on age, sex, and cancer risk, screening recommendations vary.

For more information about cancer screening guidelines, tips on eating healthy and incorporating exercise, and ways to quit smoking, call the American Cancer Society 24 hours a day, seven days a week at 1-800-227-2345 or visit cancer.org.

Kentucky optometrists offer advice to help protect vision loss

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness in the United States. However, awareness surrounding the disease is relatively low, according to a recent survey from the American Optometric Association.

That's why the Kentucky Optometric Association (KOA) is emphasizing the need for an annual dilated eye exam during Glaucoma Awareness Month in January.

Early detection and treatment is critical to protect the eyes from glaucoma, which will be diagnosed in an additional 1 million Americans over the next 10 years. More than half of Americans who have glaucoma remain undiagnosed, primarily due to a lack of annual comprehensive eye examinations.

"Glaucoma is often referred to as 'the sneak thief of sight' because it can strike without pain or other symptoms," said Dr. Ben Gaddie, who practices optometry in the Louisville area, serves as president of the international Optometric Glaucoma Society and is past president of the KOA. "Vision lost to glaucoma cannot be restored, so early detection and treatment are extremely important."

According to data from recent survey by the American Optometric Association's American Eye-Q consumer survey, 90 percent of Americans incorrectly believe glaucoma is preventable, and 72 percent mistakenly think glaucoma has early warning signs.

Regular eye exams are the first line of defense for early detection of glaucoma, according to the KOA. The disease often strikes without pain or other symptoms, so it is crucial for patients to receive a dilated eye exam where their eye doctor can thoroughly examine the pressure and nerves inside the eyes for potential signs of the disease.

The survey also discovered that Americans are not aware of the factors that put them most at risk for developing glaucoma: 86 percent of respondents are unaware that a person's race places them at a higher risk of developing glaucoma. According to the Glaucoma Research Foundation, glaucoma is "Death leaves a heartache no one can heal, love leaves a memory no one can steal."

~From a headstone in Ireland six to eight times more common in African-Americans than Caucasians. Other risk factors include:

- A family history of glaucoma
- Hypothyroidism
- Being over age 60
- Previous severe eye trauma

Treatment for glaucoma includes prescription eye drops and medicines to lower pressure in the eyes. In some cases, laser treatment or surgery may be effective in reducing pressure.

To find a doctor of optometry in your area, visit www.kyeyes.org.

About the Kentucky Optometric Association:

There are approximately 550 doctors of optometry in Kentucky.

U.S. optometrists serve patients in nearly 6,500 communities across the country, and in 3,500 of those communities are the only eye doctors. Doctors of optometry provide two-thirds of all primary eye care in the United States.

Doctors of optometry are highly qualified, trained doctors on the frontline of eye and vision care who examine, diagnose, treat and manage diseases and disorders of the eye. In addition to providing eye and vision care, optometrists play a major role in a patient's overall health and well-being by detecting systemic diseases such as diabetes and hypertension.

Prior to optometry school, optometrists typically complete four years of undergraduate study, culminating in a bachelor's degree. Required undergraduate coursework for pre-optometry students is extensive and covers a wide variety of advanced health, science and mathematics.

Optometry school consists of four years of post-graduate, doctoral study concentrating on both the eye and systemic health. In addition to their formal training, doctors of optometry must undergo annual continuing education to stay current on the latest standards of care.

Not too late to get your flu vaccine

It's not too late to get your flu shot, and getting it could not only help yourself and your family but your neighbors

It's not too late to get your flu shot, even though the flu has hit earlier and more broadly than usual, experts say.

It generally takes about two weeks for a flu vaccine to be most effective, said Dr. Tom Frieden, director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Getting the shot in mid-January might seem too late, but it's "better late than never," he said during a teleconference Friday.

The CDC says the flu has been widespread in Kentucky for more than five weeks, far more than last year. "Most of the country is seeing a lot of flu, and this may continue for several weeks," Frieden said. "We don't know if we are over the peak."

Getting a flu shot can protect your neighbors, too. The protection afforded by the current vaccine is an important tool in protecting the health of the general public. The flu can be serious, especially in senior citizens, those with other chronic health problems and children. This season's outbreak has led to the deaths of 20 children as of Friday.

The CDC has found that the current flu vaccine is 62 percent effective, meaning if you get vaccinated, "You are 62 percent less likely to get the flu," writes Mary Meehan of the Lexington Herald-Leader.

It is also important that people with flu symptoms seek treatment. Anti-virals such as Tamiflu can be effective in reducing the most serious symptoms, Frieden said. "If you get flu-like symptoms, it can really help you avoid serious illness, hospitalization or even death," he said.

BBB announces the 2012 "Bad boys" businesses with unresolved complaints

The Better Business Bureau, serving Louisville, Southern Indiana, and Western Kentucky has named its top area businesses for which it processed the most unanswered/unresolved complaints and serious complaints in 2012. Each company has an "F" rating with the BBB. This is a distinction no business should want. BBB President and CEO, Charlie Mattingly, says, "This list of businesses shows why it is wise to get a BBB Business Review before you do business. The BBB can help consumers locate reputable businesses...and stay away from the ones that don't necessarily conduct their business in an ethical manner or answer their complaints. This year's BBB list includes the following businesses (in order, with the most unanswered/unresolved complaints):

1. Professional Concepts, 333 Broadway Street, Paducah, KY (14 unanswered/unresolved complaints) – Consumers across the country complain to the BBB that the company contacts them, saying they have a buyer for their timeshare. The seller is asked to sign a contract and pay $1989 in advance for a title search, lien search, legal fees, etc. After the seller wires the money, they complain the company will not return their phone calls.

2. Warranty Logistics, 11201 Electron Drive, Louisville, KY (13 unanswered/unresolved complaints) – Consumers across the country complain to the BBB that the company sends their broken computers/electronics back un-repaired. Warranty issues are also a concern. Consumers say they send in a product that needs to be repaired, but the company sends the product back, stating they do not cover physical damage, liquid damage, or a prior unauthorized repair that is not covered under the provisions of the service plan. Consumers note no physical or liquid damage or unauthorized repairs occurred.

3. SolarTEK Energy, 1503 Evergreen Road, Louisville, KY (12 unanswered/unresolved complaints) – Consumers across the country complain to the BBB that they purchased energy savings systems and equipment from this company and that it either has not saved them the money promised, it takes the company months to show up to repair equipment, or the company does not show up at all. Consumers complain of poor customer service and no return phone calls.

4. A & M Services/M & S Contracting, 4404 Urica Sellersburg Road, Sellersburg, IN (9 unanswered/unresolved complaints) – This company's BBB Accreditation was revoked on 2/23/12 due to violation of BBB Accreditation Standards. According to complaints to the BBB, the company does not fulfill contracts and the company has not responded to all complaints. A & M Services engages in multiple misuses of BBB's name and logo on company shirts, vehicles, and its website. Consumers should be aware that the use of BBB logos and BBB name without authorization is a violation of US Federal Trademark statutes and is a misleading and deceptive practice. BBB received several complaints against the company after the tornado in Henryville, IN. Tornado victims complain A & M worked with their insurance companies to repair damages, but never finished jobs they were contracted to do. When homeowners inquired as to when the work would be finished, they could never get anyone to return phone calls. The number BBB has on file for the company is now disconnected.

5. ELC Online Stores, 7601 Trade Port Drive, Louisville, KY (8 unanswered/unresolved complaints) – Consumers across the country complain to the BBB that they ordered merchandise from the online company and never received it, or only received one-half of their order. Consumers say the company is hard to contact to ask for a refund, and those who have been promised refunds have not received them. Some consumers also complain of receiving expired promotional products.

6. Johnson Directories Plus, Inc., P O Box 219, Hardin, KY (8 unanswered/unresolved complaints) – Business owners across the country complain to the BBB that they purchased an ad with this company for a listing in a business advertising directory. The company asks for a $290 - $500 upfront fee, with the understanding that a book would be received within 12 - 24 months. Business owners say they never received the book. When they try to contact the company, there is no answer.

7. Special Occasions Weddings, 5101 Arbor Oak Court, Louisville, KY (8 unanswered/unresolved complaints) – Business owners complain to the BBB they paid the company $300 - $395 to participate in two wedding shows. They say the first show was cancelled, with short notice, and rescheduled. Some business owners could not attend the new date, and asked for a refund, but never received one.

8. Box 5 Productions, 8813 Fernview Drive, Louisville, KY (7 unanswered/unresolved complaints) – Consumers across the country complain to the BBB that they bought DVD's online from this company, and they never received them. One consumer complains he bought a DVD with his son's state band championship on it, and when he watched the DVD it had no sound. Another consumer says his child's school was not on the DVD. Consumers say, when they call for a refund, they get no response.

9. Smartwax Professional, 2623 Hedgepath Trail, Louisville, KY (7 unanswered/unresolved complaints)– Local consumers complain to the BBB that they bought a Groupon for a car detailing service from this company, and when they tried to retain the services, they could not get the company to return phone calls, or got full voicemail boxes. Consumers who were able to get in touch with the company say they scheduled appointments with the company, and no one showed up to do the work.

BBB Business Reviews provide key information about a business, including the business's grade and the number and nature of complaints filed with the BBB. Mattingly says "any business can have a complaint, and in some cases, a customer can be unreasonable or impossible to satisfy." A company is not legally obligated to respond to complaints filed with the BBB. However, most companies respond and take proper action to satisfy customer complaints. Get a BBB Business Review at www.bbb.org, or call 1-800-388-2222.

Kevin Hemphill completes Parent Leadership Training

Pendleton County parent Kevin Hemphill from Southern Elementary School was one of twenty-eight parents from northern Kentucky who graduated from the Commonwealth Institute for Parent Leadership. An initiative of the Prichard Committee for Academic Excellence, the nationally recognized sixteen year program helps parents become more effective advocates for their children's education.

The parents participated in three two-day training sessions designed to increase their understanding of school performance and how to improve it. The parents will be responsible for conducting a follow-up project designed to accelerate the academic achievement of students at their children's school and to involve more parents in the effort.

The institute, which concluded on November 3 in Florence, has prepared the parents to work toward higher achievement for all public school students by creating a new level of parent engagement.

The parents will present their individual projects to a CIPL project review panel January 30. The members of the panel will consist of persons from the local school district, community, Prichard Committee members and past CIPL graduates.

Myra Mae Colvin Sandy celebrates 100th birthday

Myra Mae Colvin Sandy of Dayton, Ohio, celebrated a century of living on January 1, 2013.

Mrs. Sandy, a Pendleton County native, was born on January 1, 1913 to John and Lizzie Colvin. She is the widow of Lawrence Sandy.

Mrs. Sandy spent her entire life in the Dayton, Ohio area where she worked for many years at Wright Patterson Air Force base as a clerical administrator. She traveled extensively all over the world after her retirement. She has spent the past several years at an assisted living facility in Dayton.

She remains in good health with her dry sense of humor, her keen memory and her love of family and friends.

Celebrating this special occasion with her were her dear son and daughter-in-law, Wayne D. and Betty Sandy; granddaughter, Lori and Colin Garland; nephews, Paul and Sharon Colvin, Richard and Patty Colvin of Falmouth; sister-in-laws, Delores Sandy and Maybelle Sandy; and nieces, Shirley Grayson, Lenora Wiggins and Carol Klaber, all of the Cynthia and Falmouth area. Mrs. Sandy is also a cousin to Dorothy Angel, Ruby Wyatt and the late Norma House of Falmouth. Several neighbors and friends also gathered with her to celebrate the special occasion with ice cream and birthday cake.

Birthday greetings may be sent to her at: The Sanctuary, 264 Wilmington Avenue, Dayton, Ohio, 45420.

Former local pastor's book helps those dealing with death of a child

By Kelly Cantrall

After suffering what he calls "the worst thing a parent can experience," Henry White is now using his experience to help others who are traveling the same path. White, pastor of Heavenbound Baptist Church in Elizabethtown and former director of Helping Hand, recently published a book, "The Greatest Loss - Ministering to Parents Who Lose a Child," that discusses how ministers can provide aid to parents who have lost a child.

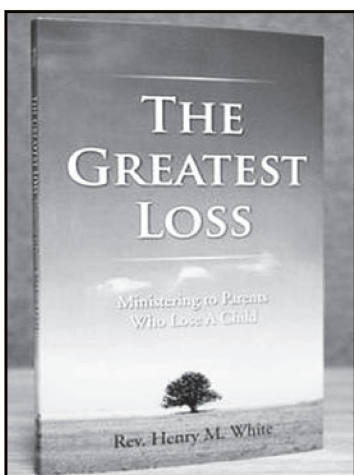

White's 19-year-old son, Matt, died in a car wreck in 1999. Soon after his son's death, White was inspired to write a book after hearing from many parents whose ministers ended up hurting more than helping them because of their lack of knowledge in dealing with the death of a child.

White and his wife, Brenda, joined the support group Compassionate Friends soon after Matt's death, and it was there he heard these stories from fellow parents in the group. He began writing the book, but shelved it for quite a while before he was encouraged to return to it and complete it.

"So I felt it really was something I needed to do," he said.

It was released a few weeks ago by Butler Books of Louisville.

White said he primarily had ministers in mind as his target audience, but said the book can be helpful to anyone, including parents who have lost a child and their friends and family who might be struggling with ways to help.

People don't want to make a parent's grief worse, he said, and that's why often they won't talk about the child, or will try to explain why the tragedy happened. White experienced both after his son died, and speaks about the hurt he felt in the book.

He also discusses parents who blame God for the death of their child or find their faith shaken because of it. Ministers often feel they need to correct those statements and beliefs, but White said that's not necessary.

"It's not rational," he said of people's statements about God during this time, "it's emotional."

White also encourages ministers not to forget about the parents as the months go by after their child's death. While they may be working to move on, their grief continues.

"But it never ends," he said. "That hole is always there."

White said he found the writing process fairly easy, and it served as a catharsis for him to write about his son. He discusses in the book the importance of keeping the child's name alive and this was another way he could do so for Matt.

It's "very satisfying" to have it complete, he said.

The book can be purchased by contacting White at (270) 769-1901 or henrywhite1001@comcast.net, or online at www.butlerbooks.com/thegreatest-loss.html.

State Senator
Katie Stine

Greetings and best wishes for a new year! A new year also marks a new season in our state capital. On Tuesday, January 8th, the Senate convened for the 2013 General Assembly Session, a session that will last 30 days. The first week is traditionally an "organizational" week in which the respective caucuses choose their leaders and committee assignments are disbursed to members. In the Senate, we have already done this. I am pleased to continue my service as president pro-tem. I will also serve as vice-chair of the Committee on Committees, the Judiciary Committee, the Legislative Research Commission, and the Rules Committee. I will be a member of Economic Development, Tourism, and Labor Committee, the Health and Welfare Committee, and the Enrollment Committee.

 The 2013 Session is technically a "short" one but it surely will not be short on issues. While odd-year sessions are not typically budget years, there are several issues that could affect budget-planning. First and foremost is the issue of public employee pension reform. The public employee pension system is only about 26% funded which represents a $33 billion unfunded liability. (Please note that teachers' retirement is entirely different and these discussions do not apply to it.) The Senate since 2005 has tried to encourage the House to address this issue. I am hopeful that the findings of the recently formed task force that met over the interim which heard from a diverse group of advocates and experts such as state employees, business groups, and the Pew Center will finally encourage the House to act.

SEN. KATIE STINE REVIEWS KENTUCKY CONGRESSIONAL WEEK

One of the principle recommendations is to fully fund the actuarial recommended contribution. Undoubtedly, tough decisions are ahead. What is clear, though, is that the system is in dire need of reform because the retirement system will end up consuming much of the budget to the exclusion of everything else including education and human services.
 Recently, the governor convened a tax task force that recommended raising both household and business utility rates, raising the cigarette tax, taxing retiree pensions, and eliminating certain deductions among other suggestions. Frankly I don't see much sentiment in the Senate for raising taxes. No one has made the case that raising taxes will spur the economy and surely we would want a tax policy that grows jobs and expands the economy which doesn't seem to be what the task force recommendations would do. The goal should be to have more people employed which would generate more tax revenue naturally. Incidentally, revenue measures must start in the House of Representatives.

 Another challenge facing the commonwealth is the governor's implementation of Medicaid managed care which, unfortunately, has been less than ideal from the start. Over the summer and fall, both in committee meetings and in informal talks with people from the district, I have heard about denial of care to patients and delayed payments to doctors and hospitals. Medicaid provides a valuable service to over 800,000 Kentuckians and it is a huge portion of the state budget. My goal is to make sure every tax dollar used to fund Medicaid is used effectively.
 Education and ensuring our children are work- and career-ready remains a priority as well. Rewarding students who push themselves to take advanced placement classes and the teachers who teach them has been on the senate agenda. It is likely that you will see another push in this area as well as a bill making it easier for students to graduate high school early. We will also continue to monitor the implementation of a Senate proposal (SB 1 - 2009) that makes Kentucky a national leader using common-core standards and fair teacher evaluations. I will also carefully evaluate any school safety proposals considered during the next session.

 I have also been working with health care providers, law enforcement, and local elected officials at all levels to help address the heroin epidemic that is fueling much of the overdoses and theft crimes in Northern Kentucky. I made a special trip before Christmas to visit The Healing Place in Louisville that is a privately funded substance abuse treatment facility. They are able to treat patients successfully for less cost than most other facilities and are the model for Recovery Kentucky, a state funded system for treatment. I will also be filing legislation to toughen our laws dealing with heroin traffickers.

 Among the other expected legislative issues, pro-life legislation remains extremely important as we strive to protect the unborn. Also, financial transparency of special taxing districts, and the impact of Obamacare on Kentucky (since the governor has already authorized a state healthcare exchange) will all be addressed in some form.
 I hope this provides you with a view of what to expect in the upcoming session. I am sure other bills will pop up that I have not mentioned and I will do my best to keep you informed. In the meantime, if I can be of any assistance or you have any questions, concerns, or comments, please call me toll-free at 1-800-372-7181 or visit us at www.lrc.ky.gov to learn more about our work.

Butler extends thanks for generosity

The city of Butler wants to say thank you to all who donated toys or made a monetary donation. This year Butler's Christmas Kids project was a great success and we couldn't have done it without your help, we were able to give toys to 81 girls and boys. Each year you surprise us with your generosity.
 Again Butler's Christmas Kids say "Thank you."

Kentucky Transportation Cabinet seeks the publics input for new twenty year road plan

In 2035, what will be our transportation needs for Kentucky? Will our focus be on maintaining and improving existing roadways, constructing new roads, or issues concerning other modes of transportation? Kentucky Transportation Cabinet officials are asking these questions as they update the Kentucky Long Range Transportation Plan.
 In determining the transportation needs for all areas of Kentucky over the next two decades, the updated plan will consider changes in communities, freight movement, financial resources, economic development, rural and urban transportation, the environment and other transportation issues that are impacting you.

 The process of updating the Kentucky Long Range Transportation Plan has begun. The new plan will be an over arching policy guide with goals, objectives and strategies to address the core transportation opportunities and challenges facing each of us.
 "A strong transportation system is vital to a strong economy and key to maintaining a high quality of life for Kentucky residents and those who travel through the state," Transportation Cabinet Secretary Mike Hancock said. "This long-range plan currently in the works is the perfect way to establish our transportation focus for the next two decades."

LEGISLATIVE PERSPECTIVE ON KENTUCKY GENERAL ASSEMBLY

State Representative
Tom McKee

The General Assembly returned to the Capitol last week, kicking off another legislative session as it always does in odd-numbered years: electing House and Senate leaders and establishing membership of the various committees for the next two years.
 I'm proud to say that I will have the opportunity to serve again as chairman of the House Agriculture and Small Business Committee, which gives me a strong voice in setting the state's policy in these two areas. I will also serve on the Local Government and the Tourism Development & Energy committees, both of which have a major impact on our communities, as well as the Tobacco Settlement Agreement Fund Oversight Committee and the Tobacco Task Force. On budgetary matters, I am also a member of the Budget Review Subcommittee on General Government, Finance and Public Protection.
 Traditionally, these opening four days are just set aside for organizational matters, with no bills being voted on. That is handled instead when the General Assembly returns in early February to complete the session's remaining 26 days.
 Although it is too soon to say what will become law, there is a growing agreement on what needs to be discussed. That includes possible tax and public pension reforms, which were studied extensively last year, and seeing what tweaks may be needed to last year's law designed to crack down on prescription drug abuse.
 House Bill 1, meanwhile, will focus on bringing more transparency and accountability to special taxing districts, which oversee such local services as libraries, health departments and airports. The goal with this bill is not to interfere with how they are run or established, but to make sure that the public can better follow how its money is being spent.

 While it is not starting in our chamber, the House will also likely look favorably upon Senate Bill 1, which will follow Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes's recommendations to make it easier for our men and women in uniform to vote on time in all elections. The current law's timeframes have made it especially difficult for those serving overseas.
 If one word could sum up last week, it would have to be bipartisan spirit. Legislators from both parties, for example, joined with Governor Beshear on Thursday to show their support for a round of major projects on the campuses of many of our public universities.
 The schools want to use their own money – with no state tax dollars or new student fees – to pay for the projects, which have a combined price tag of $363 million. They include expansions of academic and residential space, plus a major upgrade of University of Kentucky's Commonwealth Stadium. A major highlight of projects at UK is that the athletics budget will contribute a sizable portion of money to build a new science building, which is believed to be a first for this type of contribution.
 Thursday proved to be a positive day in other ways as well, though in ways not directly tied to this year's legislative session.
 To begin with, Governor Beshear announced that Kentucky's state ranking as measured by "Education Week" had risen from 34th two years ago to 10th this year. This national publication, which tracks elementary and secondary education, gave Kentucky high marks in teacher quality, academic gains by our students and the high standards we have set for them to follow. If we can find a way to boost funding, a major priority when the state's budget is written next year, our ranking will be poised to go even higher.

 The other piece of good news from Thursday came from the Office of the State Budget Director, which reported that the first half of the fiscal year, which ended on Dec. 31, saw state revenues rise 3.8 percent from the year before. That gives us a financial cushion since the budget was written with the expectation of 2.4 percent growth.
 For now, the halls of the Capitol are quiet as the members return home for the remainder of the month, as the rules for odd-year sessions call for. It promises to be much busier when the General Assembly returns on Feb. 5th.

 If you would like to contact me about issues affecting the state, either now or in the weeks ahead, please feel free to write to me at Room 332B, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601. That also includes if you know of a student who would like to be a legislative page for a day during the session. Please don't hesitate to contact me, because it is a rewarding experience for the students.
 You can also leave a message for me or for any legislator at 800-372-7181. For the deaf or hard of hearing, the number is 800-896-0305. To learn more online, meanwhile, please visit www.lrc.ky.gov.
 I hope to hear from you soon.

Commonwealth of Kentucky County of Pendleton Pendleton County Fiscal Court

Ordinance: _____

AN ORDINANCE TO HELP PREVENT THE STARVING AND/OR TOTAL NEGLECT OF AN EQUINE AND/OR EQUINES BY THEIR OWNERS, GUARDIANS, CARETAKERS AND/OR HARBORERS WITHIN PENDLETON COUNTY.

Whereas, over the past five years, Pendleton County has addressed several cases where horses have suffered neglect and starvation by their owners and/or caretakers, and Whereas, such neglect and starvation has resulted in horses having to endure protracted pain and suffering resulting in an irrevocable deterioration in their health that resulted in the need to humanely euthanize them so as to prevent further agony and self-inflicted physical harm, and Whereas, regarding cases of mass animal abuse or neglect (commonly termed "animal hoarding") peer-reviewed research has repeatedly demonstrated that the recidivism rate for these offenders is well over 90 percent, and Whereas, the State of Kentucky's procedural and substantive animal cruelty laws fail to provide a county or state magistrate with the statutory tools necessary to prevent further criminal conduct of a nature similar to that resulting in a conviction for animal abuse (including neglect or starvation of horses or other equine), and Whereas, the Pendleton County Fiscal Court wishes to take the necessary action in order to prevent any further neglect, abuse or cruelty to horses in Pendleton County, to ensure that those persons who engage in this conduct are held fully accountable for the harm they inflict and to prevent those convicted of such conduct from reoffending. Now therefore be it ordained by the Fiscal Court of the County of Pendleton, Commonwealth of Kentucky as follows:

Section One

Definitions

Animal Control Officer – A peace officer in Pendleton County recognized by the Kentucky Department of Justice, holding a valid ORI #, who has been trained and certified in both Level I and II Livestock Abuse Investigation Training which is provided through the Kentucky Justice Cabinet Culpable mental-state terms are defined as follows:
a. "Recklessly," when used with respect to a result or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense, means that a person is aware of and consciously disregards a substantial and unjustifiable risk that the result will occur or that the circumstance exists. The risk must be of such nature and degree that disregard thereof constitutes a gross deviation from the standard of care that a reasonable person would observe in the situation.
b. "Criminal negligence" or "criminally negligent," when used with respect to a result or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense, means that a person fails to be aware of a substantial and unjustifiable risk that the result will occur or that the circumstance exists. The risk must be of such nature and degree that the failure to be aware of it constitutes a gross deviation from the standard of care that a reasonable person would observe in the situation.
"Harbored" means any person who, with respect to an equine found in that person's control, custody, or possession or on that person's land, is asserting that an equine was left or abandoned on the person's property or is otherwise not required to provide the equine with minimum care.
"Henneke system" means the system of equine body condition scoring developed by Dr. Don R. Henneke, Ph.D., first published in the Equine Veterinary Journal in 1983 where a person evaluates an equine both visually and by palpating the equine's neck, withers, loin, tailhead, ribs and area behind the shoulders and resulting in a body condition score of 1 (poor/extremely thin) to 9 (obese).
"Licensed veterinarian" means any veterinarian who has graduated from a college or university with a degree in veterinarian medicine and who is licensed by and in good standing with the State of Kentucky's Board of Veterinarian Medicine.
"Minimum care" means care sufficient to preserve the health and well-being of an equine and, except for emergencies or circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the owner, includes, but is not limited to, the following requirements:

- Food of sufficient quantity and quality to allow for normal growth or maintenance of body weight;
  - Open or adequate access to potable water of a drinkable temperature in sufficient quantity to satisfy the equine's needs;
  - If an equine is in a shelter for protection from wind, rain, snow or sun, said shelter shall have adequate and appropriate bedding to protect against cold and dampness; and
  - Veterinary care deemed necessary by a reasonably prudent person to relieve distress from injury, neglect or disease.
- c. Continuous access to an area:
 h. With adequate space for exercise necessary for the health of the animal. Inadequate space may be indicated by evidence of debility, stress or abnormal behavior patterns.
 i. With air temperature suitable for the health of the animal.
 j. With adequate ventilation.
 k. With regular diurnal lighting cycles of either natural or artificial light.
 l. Kept reasonably clean and free from excess waste or other contaminants that could affect the animal's health.

"Owner" means a person who has control, custody, possession, or title to any equine or other animal.

Section Two

Determining a Horse's Well-Being

1. Where upon, if the animal control office is contacted and/or notified of a starving and/or neglected equine and/or equines in Pendleton County, he shall investigate such information and/or complaint so as to determine if there is just cause to pursue action described in this ordinance. Should he determine that action is needed, he shall contact a licensed veterinary to assist with his investigation. The animal control officer and the licensed veterinary shall use the Henneke Scoring System, equine stored body fat, blood analysis, evidence from their other physical parameters and their professional training, so as to determine if action in the matter is required. Should it be determined by both aforementioned parties that necessary action be taken in order to protect and to nurture a neglected and/or starved equine and/or equines, the animal control officer shall act in a manner as described in Section 3 of this ordinance

Section Three

Enforcement Action

1. Party and/or parties owning, guarding, caring for and/or harboring an equine and/or equines in Pendleton County, determined by the animal control office and licensed veterinary to be neglected and/or starved, shall be charged with a Class A Misdemeanor. Such charges shall carry a fine of not less than One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars nor more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars per equine, or be sentenced to no more than Twelve (12) months in jail, or both fine and incarceration. A harbored shall be presumed to have knowledge of neglected and/or starving equines found under that person's control, custody, or possession or on that person's land and shall be subject to the penalties set forth in Section 3 (1) if that person fails to make a written report of the abandonment of an equine to an animal control officer within 24 hours of actual or constructive notice of the equine abandonment
Should it be determined by both the animal control officer and the licensed veterinary, that in order to better protect and nurture neglected and/or starved equine and/or equines they be remove from the property and/or the housing location of the owner, guardian, caretaker and/or harbored of an equine and/or equines, any and all associated cost of caring for, transporting, veterinary cost and housing such equine and/or equines shall be the direct responsibility owner, guardian, caretaker and/or harbored and the County and/or its designee shall be reimbursed fully for any and all such cost. Should it be determined by both the animal control officer and the licensed veterinary that the equine and/or equines be permitted to stay in the care of the owner, guardian, caretaker and/or harbored, the animal control officer shall obtain a random sample of feed/forage provided to the equine and/or equines on a bi-weekly basis. The animal control officer may, at his discretion, have such feed and/or forage tested by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture in order to determine if the equine and/or equines are receiving proper nutrition.
Should it be determined by both the animal control officer and the licensed veterinary, that neglected and/or starved equine and/or equines are at the degree of starvation and/or neglect beyond that of rehabilitation, such equine and/or equines shall be humanely euthanized and any and all associated cost shall be borne by the owner, guardian, caretaker and/or harbored
Pursuant to a search warrant or a recognized exception to the warrant requirement, an animal control officer, in consultation with a licensed veterinarian, may seize and impound any equine if that officer has probable cause to believe that the owner or harbored has violated this ordinance. The owner or harbored of an equine shall be liable to the county for any and all costs of housing, feeding, treating and caring for any lawfully impounded equine. The county shall have a possessory chattel lien in any lawfully impounded equine for such costs.

Section Four

Severable

1. The provisions of this ordinance are severable. If any sentence, clause or section or part of this ordinance or the application thereof to any particular case is for any reason found to be unconstitutional, illegal, or invalid, such unconstitutionality, illegality, or invalidity shall not affect or repeal any of the remaining provisions, sentences, clauses or sections or part of this ordinance, it being the legislative intent of this body to ordain and enact such provision, section, paragraph, sentence, and part hereof separately and independently of such other provision.

This ordinance shall become effective upon passage and publication.

Given first reading and ordered published by the Pendleton County Fiscal Court on this the ____ day of _____, 201___.

HIGHLIGHTS

PCCC providing twenty-five years of community service

Twenty-five years ago, on January 14, 1988, thirty-three persons met together at Southern Elementary library to organize the Pendleton County Cooperative of Churches (PCCC). Representatives from fourteen churches were present for the signing of the charter. The establishing of working committees was presented by Rev. Henry White, president of the local Ministerial Association.

Mr. Elton Souder of the Falmouth Baptist church served as the first president of the PCCC. Other officers included Paul DeWald, vice president, St. Francis Xavier Catholic; Shirley Jacob, secretary, Mt. Moriah Church; and Lois Record, treasurer, Butler Christian Church.

Five working sub-committees were established with each church serving on one of the committees. Helping Hands responsible for food and clothing banks and crisis assistance were chaired by Rev. White. Community Services sub-committee chairperson was Rev. John Croft. Youth activities were headed by Rev. George Haylor. Rev. Samuel Smith oversaw the publicity committee, while Peggy Mains chaired the Support Group Committee.

The new group passed a motion that each member church have three representatives of which one may or may not be the pastor of the church. Other action included organizing the Budget Committee to consist of the elected officers and chairpersons of each sub-committee.

At the close of the meeting representatives were asked to join in signing the Charter which reads: "We, the undersigned believe that the churches in this area should cooperative to do more in this community to help others in the community. To this end, we are signing as elected representatives of our respective churches this charter establishing the Pendleton County Cooperative of Churches. We do so to glorify Jesus Christ by helping others because He taught by example and precepts that His followers should do for others. The stated purpose of the Pendleton County Cooperative of Churches infringe upon the beliefs and or practices of any of the participating churches. It is simply a cooperation of love in the name of Jesus Christ."

Churches represented at the PCCC meeting were: Trinity Southern Baptist, Falmouth United Methodist, Falmouth Baptist, Southside Church of Christ, Concord United Methodist, Morgan Christian, Falmouth Wesleyan, Blanket Creek Baptist, Marcus Crooked Creek Baptist, St. Francis Xavier Catholic, Chapel of Praise Assembly of God, Mt. Moriah Christian, Butler Christian and Falmouth Christian.

Many of those who were active in the start of the Pendleton County Cooperative of Churches are gone, but the work they began continues in our county today. In the twenty-five years since that first meeting many lives have been impacted by the work of the Cooperative and continue to be so today.

The original charter continues to be the purpose behind the PCCC of 2013 though there are many differences today. According to Wayne Keith, the PCCC president for the past three years, there aren't established committees now as there once were, but rather the churches work as a whole. If something needs doing a group is formed and it gets done.

There are approximately twenty churches involved in the PCCC with pastors and members of other churches stepping in when needed. The PCCC has begun two services in past years, Good Friday and Thanksgiving services and added in 2008 a National Day of Prayer Service and in 2012 a New Years Prayer service. At each of these services a love offering is taken up to be used to provide assistance to community members in need.

St. Vincent DePaul teams with PCCC by supplying a food pantry for food supplies to be contributed to those in need. Some of the churches collect food items and others make monetary donations as monthly contributions to the food pantry. Besides the food at the food pantry, the PCCC in partnership with St. Frances Xavier also provides vouchers for fresh foods such as milk and meat.

"We feel it's a good voice for church to be part of the Community Service Alliance," offers President Wayne Keith.

In the past three years the PCCC has done just that by providing a family movie night around the time a new school year is about to begin. This event has been well attended with a crowd of 90-100 present. There have also been corn hole tournaments and cook-offs.

In December, PCCC partnered with the Falmouth Rotary Club to bring back White Christmas services, another fine community event that also brings food items to needy families.

Keith says, "The PCCC desires to be good community partners and to bring family-friendly events to the community."

All churches are welcome to be a part of the PCCC. Meetings are held every other odd month, at 7 p.m., on the third Thursday with locations to be published in The Falmouth Outlook on the calendar page. The address for the PCCC is P.O. Box 67, Falmouth, KY 41040 or email address is pendletonchurches@hotmail.com.

Money tips for college students - play your cards right

As students become more responsible for paying their own bills, they need to be aware of the types of cards available, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

Debit cards are tied to a bank account. When someone uses a debit card, the money is automatically deducted from the account. Most colleges issue a type of debit card to students that can be used to buy books, supplies and meals. In that case, the card is not tied to a bank account but is preloaded with funds deposited each semester or quarter.

When a debit card has been lost or stolen, report it to the bank or credit union immediately to limit losses from unauthorized use.

Credit cards offer what is essentially an interest-free loan if the balance is paid in full each month. Students who use credit cards should pay them off at the end of each pay period when possible to avoid paying interest fees. Most credit cards also offer cash advance services at a higher interest rate.

Lost or stolen credit cards should also be reported immediately. However, there is a $50 limit to the consumer's liability on fraudulent charges with stolen credit cards.

ATM cards allow users to withdraw cash from their accounts when the bank or credit union is closed. Most banks and credit unions charge a fee when ATM cards are used at a machine not owned by that institution's network, and those fees can add up. Students should not use an ATM card outside their network unless absolutely necessary.

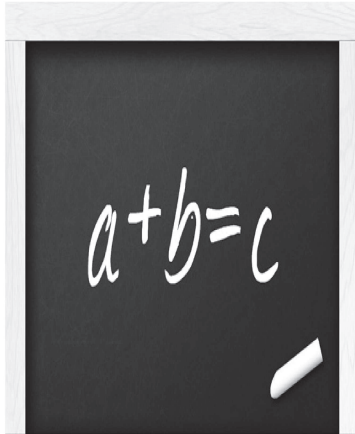

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES). It provides financial literacy videos at <http://itsmoney.kheaa.com>. KHEAA also provides free copies of "It's Money, Baby," a guide to financial literacy, to Kentucky schools and residents upon request at publications@kheaa.com.

Mayor Hart visits third grade at Southern Elementary

Mayor Mark Hart recently spoke to Southern's third grade classes. He spoke to the students about government putting a lot of emphasis on the local government. Mayor Hart commented that one of his favorite things to do for the city was to go to Frankfort and lobby for things that the town needed. Gage thought it was interesting that he had six council members to help him. Troy says, "I can't believe that he has two jobs." The students enjoyed his visit. Mayor Hart did an excellent job informing the students about the local government.

High school seniors advised to file financial aid paperwork

The Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority is recommending that high school seniors who plan to further their education at a college or technical school this fall complete the application for financial aid as soon as possible in January.

Continuing college students will need to file an update of information filed in previous year. The application is known as the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid). The information from this paperwork determines whether a student qualifies for aid in the form of federal and state grants, work - studies, and federal student loans.

Some colleges also award their own grants and scholarships based on information contained in the FAFSA.

It is recommended that the FAFSA be completed online at www.fafsa.gov but a paper form is available upon request by calling 1-800 - 4 - Fed - Aid.

An application worksheet and helpful tips packet with a list of necessary financial documents is available in the guidance office at Pendleton County High School.

On January 23 there will be a FAFSA Workshop in the main computer lab at Pendleton County High School to assist students and parents in submitting the online application.

Come any time between the hours of 4 and 7 p.m. Participants are encouraged to complete as much of the worksheet as possible prior to the event and bring supporting financial documents for reference. Several professionals will be on hand to assist you that evening.

Pendleton Rec Cheerleaders racking up first place trophies

The Pendleton County Recreational Cheerleaders just finished hosting the Cheer Cats Cup at PCHS, January 5, 2013.

Last year the funds generated by this competition were used to purchase a set of mats for practicing. This year, however, the funds will be used towards their trip to compete at the AmeriCheer Winter Open National Championship in Columbus, Ohio.

So far this year the teams have competed in one competition where they both won first place in their divisions. Both teams will be performing at PHS on January 15 during half-time of the Wildcat basketball game. The girls will finish their season by competing at Ryle High School on March 2 in the NKCCA competition.

This year's coaches are Loran

Peoples, Racheal Adams, Robin Wiley, Felicia Orme, Cassandra Jacobs, Lisa Wright and Kim Barlow.

A special thank you goes out to all the coaches, parents, PC Football, PC High School CheerCats, Holly Trimble, Bridget Magee, Myron Doan, Cheri Griffin, and Darlene Wright for all of their work in making this event the success that it was.

Ladycats basketball team battling through injuries

Seasons have valleys and peaks and teams that find success in the post season are the ones that grow stronger in the valleys that allows the peaks to be sustained longer.

The Ladycats are mostly definitely in one of their season's valleys and have been hit hard by injuries.

Senior Bradi Boden has been hampered by an injured ankle over the past two weeks that has limited her playing time and effectiveness.

In the 85-46 loss to Mercer County on Friday night, Ashten Wolfe sprained her ankle. Her 75 game streak of starting games was snapped in the Cats 55-44 loss to West Jessamine the next day.

"Boden has been playing on a real gimpy ankle and losing Ashten really hurts our ability to relieve ball pressure."

Coach Scott Collins commented about his two senior perimeter players.

He continued, "We hope to find out more about Ashten's injury next week and that will give us the direction we need to take."

"Right now, we need someone to step up, have confidence and help out Isabella Hall handle the ball not just be a passer. We have to quit making turnovers and learn how to handle physical defensive teams."

Last night, the Cats played Campbell County but results were not available at press time. The Lady Camels style of physical pressure is not a good match-up when your experienced guards are limited or out to injuries.

But with four weeks until the 38th District Tournament tips off, the Ladycats have plenty of time to get healthy and be standing at the peak of season high and making a run in post season play.

Ladycats: Boden 3 1 9, Hall 3 0 6, Fitzpatrick 1 0 2, Manor 2 0 5, Wolfe 3 0 7, Jolley 3 3 9, McClanahan 5 0 10, Totals 20 4 46

West Jessamine 14 15 13 13 55

JV lost both games this week with the last game being an overtime thriller. Mercer County's press was too much for the Cats falling behind 24-5 after the first quarter. Mercer would win 54-15.

Against West Jessamine, they fell behind early again trailing after one 9-4 but a second half rally knotted the game at 39 at the end of regulation. The Cats played tough defense in the OT allowing West only a single basket but offensively they were shut out and dropped the 41-39 game. Bailey Wanstrath scored 17 points and Amberly Purdy had 9 in the second half to lead the Cats.

The Kittens lost to Mason County 42-29 in their only action this week. Amberly Purdy continued her good play with 11 points.

Wildcats win two, knock off Calvary Christian and Ryle

By Bruce Reller Jr., Reporter

The Pendleton County Wildcats won two out of three games last week, including victories over Calvary Christian and Ryle High School.

The Wildcats started off the week with a home game against Calvary Christian last Tuesday, January 8. Pendleton jumped out to a 34-13 halftime lead and never looked back in a 75-43 win.

"We were able to play all our kids that were able to play in this game and get them valuable minutes of experience," Wildcats head coach Ed Cravens said. "We try to use each game to get better."

Twelve players scored in the game for Pendleton County, including senior Mason Monroe, who scored a team high 15 points. Monroe scored his 1,900th point in the victory.

"I'm very happy for Mason. He is a quality young man," Cravens said. "This places him for sure as the second leading scorer in Pendleton Wildcat history."

Wildcats 13 21 16 25 75

Calvary Christian 7 6 16 14 43

Wildcats: Jones 11, Appleman 5, Pyles 2, Gibson 5, Wilson 6, Colvin 7, Booth 4, McCain 6, Monroe 15, Turner 2, Koeninger 6, Pugh 6.

The Wildcats next took on a really good Bishop Brossart team on the road last Thursday, January 10. The Mustangs scored 45 points in the middle two quarters and defeated Pendleton County 69-56.

"We started off well in the Pyles 2 0 4, Gibson 1 0 2, Colvin 2 2 6, Monroe 5 7 17, Koeninger 1 0 2, Moore 3 4 10, Pugh 3 0 6. Totals 20 16 56.

Pendleton County ended the week with another road game against Ryle last Saturday, January 12. In a game that came down to the wire, the Wildcats defeated the Raiders 56-55.

"It was an ugly game. Both sides tried to give it away," Cravens said. "Offensively, we couldn't score across the rim as a team. We couldn't put the ball in the basket."

PC made one of two free throws with 2 seconds left in the game, and the Raiders couldn't get off a shot at the end as the Wildcats prevailed.

Moore scored 17 points for Pendleton County, and Monroe finished with 14 points. Senior Aaron Gibson also contributed 10 points for the Wildcats.

However, the Wildcats (9-8) shot just 32 percent from the free throw line, and they had 14 turnovers in the contest. Ryle didn't shoot much better and committed 25 turnovers.

"It wasn't a pretty game, not a pretty sight," Cravens said. "But Ryle is a 6A school, and it was a nice win on the road."

Wildcats: Moore 17, Gibson 10, Monroe 14, Appleman 7, Pyles 1, Colvin 2, Koeninger 5.

Pendleton County returns home for two games this week. They play Conner tonight at 6:00 p.m. Then, they will play regional foe Mason County this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Monroe

acrobatic lay-up that'll leave you saying, how did he do that? Monroe's story isn't one of an underdog that has overcome a lot of obstacles to get to where he is, far from it. Monroe is an alpha dog. A dominator. He's excelled at every level he's played at his entire life.

His love for the game was evident at a very early age. "He's had a ball in his hands for as long as I can remember," recalls his father, Kent Monroe. "He showed great coordination and ability when he was very young. I could tell he loved to play so I found a YMCA league for him when he was four years old, and an AAU team in Newport when he was eight." In fact, the young boy displayed such skill that he had to play against boys that were two and three years older than him, due to the superior advantage he had when playing against boys his own age. Two years later, when Mason was 10, he joined an AAU team in Georgetown. He would go on to play for that club all the way through middle school. Basketball consumed Mason's life for 9-10 months out of the year, but he didn't mind. He also found time to play soccer and baseball, holding his own in those sports as well.

"Mason and I would work on ball-handling and shooting drills at home. I thought it was important for him to develop a mid-range game, it's kind of become a lost art in today's game," said Kent. As a child, Mason loved watching the Arkansas Razorbacks teams of the mid-90's, coached by the legendary Nolan Richardson. Kent can't quite put his finger on it but he believes it was that teams style of play, the frantic paced, "40 minutes of Hell," that drew a young Mason to sit right in front of the TV screen. As Mason grew older, he became a die-hard Kentucky fan, who idolized the lanky and smooth All-American Tayshaun Prince.

"Prince was my favorite player as a kid, I loved the way he played. He was left-handed like me, and he just played the game with a calmness about him.

He never looked like he was nervous," offers Mason.

Those who have followed Mason's career will tell you that his greatest advantage on the court has nothing to do with the fact that he can seemingly dribble through double-teams with his eyes closed, or blow by would-be defenders with blazing quickness that is similar to the difference between 4G and dial-up, it's his mind.

"Mason has an uncanny ability to see things others on the floor don't see," said Pendleton County Athletic Director Keith Smith. "He is such an intelligent player, especially around the basket. Some of the shots I've seen him make, the way he is able to twist and turn his body while in the air, and to be able to find a way to convert a shot in traffic is just unbelievable."

Wildcats junior varsity coach Brent Sowder credits Mason's mental toughness for his success. "What makes him great is that he is unflappable. Nothing rattles him.

"Behind his calm exterior lies one of the most fierce competitors I have ever seen. Teams try to game plan to stop him and they just can't," said Sowder.

Former Pendleton County Wildcats head coach, Chad Simms, saw enough from Mason that he promoted him to starting point guard for the varsity team halfway through his 8th grade year. "Mason absolutely forced our hand. Through his play he was telling us that he was ready. I discussed the move with our coaching staff and we had to decide if he was both physically and mentally prepared to take the next step. It obviously paid off, and he has gone on to become one of the all-time greats for our school. In my 13 years of coaching, the only player I would put ahead of Mason from this area would be former Mason County and University of Tennessee standout Chris Lofton," said Simms.

Beyond the individual accolades, the teams Monroe has played on during his career have enjoyed great success. Three consecutive district championships, along with a regional final appearance in the 2010-11 season. The only thing missing from what is sure to be a 10th region Hall of Fame career would be an appearance in Rupp Arena for the Sweet 16. Mason, along with his teammates are currently in the midst of making that goal come to fruition.

If possible, Mason shines off the court even more brightly than he does on it. When discussing his place in Wildcat basketball history, he can tell you in great detail about all of the greats who came before him, such as Bobby Wyatt, Rick Elrod, and the man who holds the top spot on the career scoring list with over 3,000 points, Talbert Turner. "It's an honor to be mentioned with those great players. I've always enjoyed learning about the history of the game and we have a lot of that here in Pendleton County," said Mason. To put Turner's numbers into perspective, he currently ranks 14th all-time on the state scoring leading list despite playing 30 years ago. Mason will most likely end his career with well over 2,000 points, but will still fall over 1,000 points short of the all-time Wildcat school record.

Mason could quite possibly be the most unassuming star player in school history. He's mature beyond his years and carries himself with a soft-spoken and respectful demeanor.

"He's universally respected by his teammates and opponents. He's a great young man," said Sowder. His father says that he's had many parents approach him at games throughout Mason's life and tell him how much they enjoy watching him play.

As Mason reflects upon his career, he acknowledges that so many people have helped him get to where he is. "I want to thank God for the ability he blessed me with. Also, my family for always pushing me to be as good as I could be, and Coach Simms for believing in me and giving me a chance when I was young. I've also played with so many great teammates over the years, and I will miss them along with the fans so much when my career does end," he said.

In an age when so many young star athletes are more worried about drawing individual attention to themselves, Monroe has shown that you can be just as humble as you can exceptional. "I've always just let my game do the talking for me. I don't believe in getting caught up in anything else. I've also been a really competitive guy even if you can't tell it by the look on my face. I'm always thinking out there on the court and I believe that has helped me the most in having the kind of career that I have had."

McConnell discusses crushable pain pill abuse with Health and Human Services

U.S. Senate Republican Leader Mitch McConnell met with Health and Human Services' (HHS) Acting General Counsel Bill Schultz in Washington on Wednesday, December 19 to emphasize the seriousness of the prescription drug crisis in Kentucky. During the meeting, Senator McConnell told HHS' top lawyer that "prescription drug abuse is a significant problem in Kentucky that will be made worse by the imminent availability of these crushable pain pills and I encourage the administration to take action immediately to avert the looming threat to Kentucky from these frequently-abused, crushable-pain pills."

Early next year, generic versions of the two most commonly-abused painkillers - Opana and OxyContin - will flood the markets. Senator McConnell's office has heard concerns from law enforcement, hospitals and health clinics in Kentucky that these generic crushable drugs lack the tamper-resistant gel coating of the brand name drugs. Without this technology, addicts crush the pills in order to achieve an immediate heroine-like high from sniffing or injecting the painkillers. If these generics come to market without the tamper resistant coating, much of the work that law enforcement and health care providers have done to stem the tide of pain pill abuse in Kentucky will be lost.

In addition to this meeting, Senator McConnell also recently contacted the FDA commissioner to ask that the agency delay these crushable generic drugs coming to market until a workable solution can be found.

Mitchell Blewett becomes all-time leading scorer for Covington-Latin

Mitchell Blewett passed former major league baseball star David Justice to become Covington Latin's all-time leading scorer on Thursday, January 3. He scored a game-high 28 points during an 82-60 loss to Riverview East to bring his career total to 1,392. Blewett suffered a concussion in the first five minutes of the contest but managed to finish out the game. He was taken to an area hospital afterwards for X-rays. Justice is now number two on the list with 1,375 points. Mitchell is the son of William and Lisa Blewett of Crescent Springs and the grandson of Don and Carol Lee of Falmouth. ## Oxycontin trial to be held in Ky.

Attorney General Jack Conway announced today's decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 2nd Circuit that affirms a lower court's order returning a 2007 lawsuit against Purdue Pharma, the manufacturer of OxyContin, to Pike Circuit Court in eastern Kentucky. Shortly after the case was filed, Purdue Pharma removed the case to the Southern District of New York. The two-judge panel today upheld the prior decision of the U.S. District Court, which allowed the attorney general's motion to proceed with the litigation in Pike Circuit Court where it was originally filed.

"OxyContin is highly addictive and easily abused prescription drug that has wrought tragic consequences throughout the commonwealth, and Purdue Pharma's misrepresentations about its addictive nature helped fuel an epidemic of prescription pill abuse across Kentucky," General Conway said. "After years of delay tactics, Purdue will now answer to a Kentucky court and a Kentucky jury."

The commonwealth's lawsuit alleges that Purdue Pharma misled healthcare providers, consumers and government officials regarding the risk of addiction associated with OxyContin, a schedule II narcotic. The lawsuit seeks reimbursement for costs incurred in drug abuse programs, law enforcement actions, and prescription payments through Medicaid and the Kentucky Pharmaceutical Alliance program. Pike County joined the suit to combat the epidemic of prescription drug abuse, which is blamed for a growing number of overdose deaths across the commonwealth.

"More Kentuckians are dying from prescription drug overdoses than traffic accidents," General Conway said. "Drug companies that mislead consumers about the nature of their drugs must be held accountable."

scription drugs is the fastest-growing drug problem in the United States, according to the National Office of Drug Control Policy. In a 2010 Forbes study of the nation's most medicated states, Kentucky ranked fourth. From 1999 to 2004, Kentucky overdose deaths increased 164 percent.

In August of 2009, Attorney General Conway created Kentucky's first and only statewide Prescription Drug Abuse Task Force to increase investigations into prescription drug trafficking, overprescribing physicians, doctor shopping and illegal out-of-state pharmacies. Since then, the task force has been involved in more than 130 prescription drug diversion investigations, including Operation Flamingo Road, Kentucky's largest prescription drug bust that resulted in felony arrest warrants for more than 500 people.

Attorney General Conway also joined with state government and law enforcement partners, as well as concerned parents, to launch a statewide prescription drug abuse prevention and education initiative called Keep Kentucky Kids Safe to alert middle and high school students to the dangers of abusing prescription pills. As part of this effort, General Conway and his partners have spoken to more than 15,000 educators and students across Kentucky.

In addition to his law enforcement and education efforts, General Conway reached across party lines to work closely with Florida's Attorney General Pam Bondi to ensure that Florida implemented an electronic prescription drug monitoring system similar to Kentucky's KASPER system. In April, Florida Gov. Rick Scott announced he would no longer block implementation of the database.

General Conway also helped pass House Bill 1, landmark legislation in Kentucky to help crack down on the prescription pill epidemic.

Anniversary of "Support Our Troops"

Veteran Bill Ashcraft told the newspaper that it will soon be 22 years on January 17 that a rally was held at Pendleton County High School in support of our troops with the start of the Iraq war. "There were 750 attending that rally," he said. "It's hard to believe that time has gone so fast."

BLANKET CREEK

Each year we draw names for a prayer partner and commit to praying for them daily the next year. This morning we did it for the 2013 year. We have seen lots of answered prayers and look forward to your prayers again this year. We also celebrated the Lord's Supper, taking time once again to remember what God did by sacrificing His Son and the suffering Christ went through for us. Scripture for the message "How to make this the Best Year" was taken from Psalm 65:11-13. Let God have His way, accept responsibility to work for the Lord, set new goals, commit to the Lord's service, dare to dream, seek earnestly for God's power to show in you. We added Jimmy Hendy, Bill Angel, Sabrina Rarriack, Lisa Ammerman and Mamie Faulkner to our prayer concerns and the families of Sandy Crozier Porter, Angelina Bray, Julie Adams and Clyde Cockrell.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

Bro. Cohen's message was about what it will take to become more genuinely Christian in the new year. We must lose ourselves. As written in John 3:30 "He must become greater; I must become less." We must also humble ourselves as it says in I Peter 5:6. As found in Matthew 16:25 "For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for Me will find it." We must deny ourselves and follow Christ. And as found in Philippians 3, we must press on toward the goal to win the prize for which God has called us heavenward in Christ Jesus.

We closed the worship service by partaking in the sacrament of the Lord's Supper—a sacred time of reflection.

Sunday evening we held the annual Community Prayer Service at Falmouth Baptist. It was a fabulous service and a great way to start the new year.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN

Brother Rick's message this week directed each of us to become aware of what the future holds for each of us. With the fast paced times we live in today it is so easy to get sidetracked into the worldly things that we know are not in God's plan for us and our eternal life. We have to stay focused on our future and whether we want to go to heaven to be with our Lord at the end of our days or do we want to spend eternity with Satan. All of us, surely without a doubt, want to be with our Heavenly Father. We are just passing through this old world. We need to live every day as if it were our last in preparation of spending eternity with our Lord. Philippians 3:13-21 outlines God's plan for those who seek eternal life.

We had a blessed day with special music from our choir and from a group from the Stonewall First Church of God in Scott County. The group "Witness Protection" with Mark Stubbs, Ivan Jenkins, Dwayne Ecklar and Joseph and Tyler Jenkins did a wonderful job in delivering their message in song. They touched the hearts of everyone.

Remember those who are ill and those who have lost loved ones this week. Keep them in your prayers and lend a helping hand to them if you know they have a particular need. Our Sunday school starts at 9:30 a.m.

and morning worship at 10:45 a.m. Please join us. We are a loving and caring church. Have a blessed week.

FALMOUTH METHODIST

Some of the most familiar words in the Bible appear in the third chapter of Ecclesiastes. "To everything there is a season, and a time for every purpose under heaven."

This passage refers to the human condition; and the view can often be a bit negative. Life can be short, thankless and pretty unfair at times. Wise people have no real control over their estates. Kingdoms may be inherited by fools. People often die young and wisdom and wealth don't always bring happiness.

Although the words were written thousands of years ago, they have a message for us today. Despite the negative view, the author saw the rewards in life. The young should rejoice in their youth and remember their Creator. Those who live for many years should rejoice in them all.

Yes, to everything there is a season; may 2013 be a good "season" for you.

FIRST BAPTIST

Greetings to all. Bro. Harry blessed us with special music on this first Sunday of 2013. Bro. Harry's sermon was taken from Thessalonians. The Word of God was written for all of us. Start your new year off right by reading God's word daily. Also, go out and tell others about God. With the Word of God we can overcome temptations. Resolve this year to follow Jesus.

What a wonderful way to start 2013 by attending the church of your choice.

Our congregation was saddened by the loss of Bro. Harry's sister, Sandy. Our loss was heaven's gain. She is now singing in God's angelic choir.

Pray for the lost, the sick, those who have lost loved ones, our military, our country and it's leaders.

"In You our Father's trusted; they trusted and You delivered them."

~Psalm 22:4

"Don't let your worries get the best of you. Remember, Moses started out as a basket case."

HARVEST

Bro. Dale's morning message was based on the scripture text of Philippians 4:8-9, "Think on these things." What we put into our minds determines what comes out in words and actions. We must program our minds with thoughts that are true, noble, right, pure, lovely, admirable, excellent and praiseworthy. Ask God to help you focus your mind on what is good and pure.

Upcoming opportunities include a men's meeting at 8 a.m., Saturday, January 19; Youth Sunday on January 20; and Family Fun night at 6 p.m., January 26.

Prayer concerns are Bobby Lea, Barry Mains, Gary Allen, Craig Franks, Terry Belew, Louise Price, Brenda Smith, Eric Miles, Jeanetta Flowers, Monica Wilson, Lisa Ammerman and Beverly Spegal.

Worship with us at 111 E. Shelby Street. Sundays, Bible study begins at 9:30 a.m., worship at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. and youth group at 6 p.m. Wednesday prayer service at 7 p.m. and praise team practice at 7 p.m.

MORGAN CHRISTIAN

My call to ministry began as a teenager. Yet I felt I had to be mistaken because the tradition I grew up with did not recognize women as pastors. Since that time, my faith journey has led me to learn more about Scripture, and more about God's work in people's lives, and in the world. Along the way, my calling became clearer, and always led back to the same place. And I've seen countless ways that God creates a way where there was none before.

God has a plan for you that you were uniquely designed for. Each person has talents and skills that are gifts from a loving Creator. We are blessed with our gifts so we have something to offer for the common good of all. The greatest joy and purpose any one of us can know in our life is following God's plan for us. Come and discern with us at Morgan this Sunday. Sunday school at 10 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m.

MT. CARMEL

Charles and Amy will be hosting a small group study titled "Discovering God's Will," by Andy Stanley. This study is open to anyone, whether you have been in a small group before or not. Meeting will begin at 7 p.m. on Friday evenings, beginning January 11.

Cameron and Elizabeth will be hosting a small group study in their home on Friday nights at 7 p.m. starting January 18. They will look at stories from the Bible about Jesus. Children can also attend the meetings and are encouraged to participate and learn.

The Ladies small group will be studying "12 Women of the Bible," six from the Old Testament and six from the New Testament. They will meet at MargEl's house 10 a.m. beginning on January 22. For more information see the sign up sheet at the front.

Bro. Rick will begin a series through "The Book of Revelation" in the morning service starting January 20. Then that evening a series titled "Nations in prophecy" will begin.

If you are looking for a church home we would love to have you. For more information about Mt. Carmel Baptist please visit our website www.themcbc.com

MT. MORIAH

A gift of 8,760 hours was given to you and to me when we started this new year of 2013. Don't waste time this year, be committed to God. Psalm 90:12 says, "So teach us to number our days, that we may gain a heart of wisdom." Wow.

Brent Moore was installed as an elder in our Sunday, January 6, worship service. We are thankful to have him serve as an elder at Mt. Moriah now. Come and be with us any Sunday morning. God bless you!

NEW HOPE

Why should we submit to God? What gives Him the right to establish the rules in this world? First, He is the one who gave you life. You owe your entire existence to God. Second, God sustains your life. He gives you water, oxygen and food. If God were to remove Himself from this world, we could not live. Third, since God created this world, it belongs to Him. As the owner of this world, He has the right to establish the rules just as you establish the rules in your house. Fourth, we want to live eternally with God in heaven. Once again, it is His home and therefore it is His rules. We cannot live anyway that we want to in this world. God has the right to establish the rules and we have the obligation to submit to His rules.

NEW ZION

Come join us for worship and fellowship. Sunday school starts at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and evening worship starts at 6:30 p.m. Bible study is at 7 p.m. on Thursdays.

Thank you to those that made the New Year's Eve celebration so awesome. The evening was spent in praise of the Lord through fellowship, music and prayer. I'm sure all that attended received a blessing.

Ephesians 1:3 "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ."

Upcoming opportunities include Evening worship will start at 5:30 p.m. on January 20 with the men's soup cook-off to follow at 6:30 p.m. and the Fully Charged Youth Group will give a special presentation at 6:30 p.m. on January 27.

Remember in prayer Hannah Perkins, Elaine Inlows, Terry Sherlock, Donna Moneyhon, Bonnie Cogswell, David Flaughter, Trenton Tursani, Gavin Cales, Christopher Cummins, Opal Whitaker, Dean Larrison, Penny Moore, Juanita King, Margaret Adams, Heather Flynn, Christa Reckers, Niki Darling, Peggy Foley, Kenny Riley, Joe Bush, Angie Hemphill, the Crozier family and all of our men and women in uniform.

Also remember to pray daily for our country and it's leaders.

OKLAND

It's so great to start the new year in the Lord's House. It's also great to have electricity. No fun without. Just as it is with our Lord - no fun without! A thought from Bro. Jim's message was that Jesus did come to comfort us, but not to make us comfortable. Always remember that the gates of hell cannot stop the church. The church can only stop itself.

Men's fellowship is January 21 at Germantown Christian.

Several prayer concerns include Jim Fields, Hazel Ramsey, Jim McCann, Zelma King, baby Isabel Anderson, Dorothy Skidmore, Donnie Moneyhon, Ronnie King (therapy), Bev Bass, Phyllis Wolfe, Adarin Williams, Todd Belmont, Dorothy Blevins, Lisa Ammerman, Mark LeSuer, Brenda and Woodie Smith, Eric Miles, Chris Beckett, Mayme Faulkner, Leslie Wolfe Jr., Eudell Hall, our shut-ins, cancer issues, our armed forces and our leaders.

SHELLEY MEYER, 4-H/YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

Developing leadership skills in youth

All youth need opportunities to develop leadership skills. By learning to interact with others and becoming engaged members of their communities, youth learn that they can make a difference.

In order for youth to be prepared to work in partnership with adults, they need to develop and/or enhance their leadership skills. Leadership education prepares youth to:

- manage time
- work as a team
- set goals
- start conversations
- facilitate meetings
- solve problems
- make effective presentations
- appreciate learning and education

Youth-development professionals generally agree that leadership development is an important, but often overlooked facet of youth development and education (Mac-Neil, 2000). The development of leadership contributes greatly to the positive development of young people and their communities. Promoting youth leadership development is a great way to promote positive life skills and learning. Participation in leadership can promote or extend a youth's understanding of career paths and opportunities, which can open doors in the future.

Helping youth develop life skills as competent, capable and productive members of society is the goal of most youth programming. Youth who successfully develop these skills will be part of creating a more qualified workforce because they will have the necessary background to make positive impacts both economically and socially in Kentucky. Helping youth learn more about themselves, lead groups and become engaged community members helps to build an environment that promotes success.

KENNA KNIGHT, FAMILY AND CONSUMER SCIENCES

Cutting Board Sanitation

Cutting, chopping, mincing or dicing are a part of virtually all our food preparation activities. A cutting board, along with a good knife, is an essential tool in the kitchen.

Whether you use a wood or plastic cutting board, following proper food handling and sanitation practices can help prevent cross-contamination that can lead to foodborne illness.

Designate specific boards exclusively to cut raw meat and poultry.

Frequently sanitize your cutting board, especially after you finish using it for a specific food item. Use a solution of one teaspoon of liquid chlorine bleach to one quart of water to sanitize the cutting board after you have thoroughly cleaned it with soap and warm water.

Be sure the surface is hard and smooth to prevent pitting that could harbor growth of illness-causing bacteria.

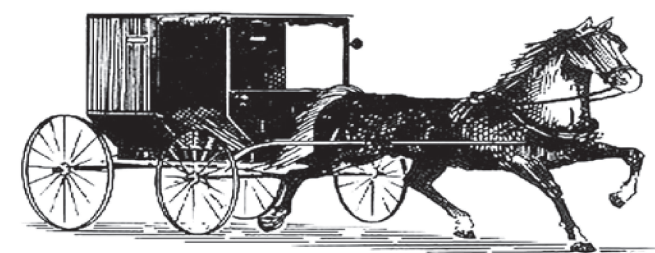

Always replace cutting boards before they become worn and battered.

A good knife also is an essential part of food preparation.

Be sure it is easy to clean, fits your hand and has a good quality blade. Also, know how to properly use the right knife for the right purpose.

Since most stainless steel blades are rust- or stain-resistant, rather than rustproof, keep them clean and wipe them dry after use. High-carbon stainless steel is rust resistant, but harder to sharpen. Non-stainless high carbon rusts more easily but is easier to sharpen.

For more information, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

A whole brand new year lies ahead. What does it have in store for us all? Only God knows so let us put our trust in Him. I hope everyone had a great, safe holiday. We had a very nice holiday after the flu bug finally left our house.

Christmas Day was spent here at home. Elizabeth's friend Timothy and Susan's friend Mose joined us for the day. It was a memorable day playing games and just being together as a family. Our thoughts and prayers went out to the ones missing family members this holiday season. They are missed even more during the special holiday time.

I put a breakfast casserole in the oven to heat while everyone opened their gifts. Days like that go way too fast.

Sunday we had the annual Christmas potluck dinner after church services. As always there was more than enough food. Daughter Loretta made cupcakes and frosted and decorated them to take along. Monday evening Jacob, Emma and family came in honor of Joe's birthday which was December 22. Joe grilled chicken and hot wings while I made scalloped potatoes. We also froze homemade ice cream for our dessert and Emma brought donuts.

Jacob, Emma, and family, Timothy and Mose also spent New Year's Day here. We had a brunch which was a breakfast haystack." Our breakfast haystack

LINDIE HUFFMAN, AGRICULTURE AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Over 400 soil samples were processed and analyzed by the Pendleton County Extension Office in 2012!

The Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service is now offering 20 free soil samples per sampling category. The categories are as follows:

- A: Agriculture
- C: Commercial Horticulture
- H: Home, Lawn, and Garden

A farm serial number must be provided for agriculture samples.

Each soil sample thereafter will cost the individual $5.00 per sample. The Extension office will cover shipping costs of the samples.

Why soil sample you may ask? Soil sampling is a quick, efficient, and cost effective best management practice that provides important information to make decisions concerning:

- How much lime to use in crop fields, lawns, vegetable or flower beds.
- How much fertilizer to use on lawns, vegetables, flowers, and shrubs.
- How to adjust the soil pH for optimum growth of acid-loving plants such as azaleas and rhododendrons.
- How to apply soil amendments and fertilizer to improve soil quality.
- Nutrients that are lacking or in excess in the soil.
- Amount of lead or other metals in the soil.

For more information regarding the soil sampling program or process, please contact the Pendleton County Extension Office at 859-654-3395.

Never Fail Cupcakes

miniature pony and the other is a bigger-sized pony like our pony Stormy. Her friend Mose's Dad gave Susan the pony to keep for her own. She is excited and eager to train her. Benjamin and Susan have the pony, which is named Roxxy, hitched to the pony cart now for the first time. It always makes me a little nervous until she has the ponies going good. Benjamin, 13, enjoys helping her train the ponies. Jacob, Emma, and family went to Berne, Indiana to have Christmas with Jacob's family. While there they stopped in to say hi to brother Amos, Nancy and family. Amos sent along a roll of his homemade summer sausage he made. It was very good and disappeared quite fast around here. We appreciated it very much.

Whiteker and Euelta Fern Whiteker, husband and wife, dated August 21, 1997, filed August 21, 1997, recorded in Deed Book 205, Page 608, County Clerk's Office, Pendleton County, Kentucky.
Richard Nevil died on September 7, 2011, and pursuant to his death, all his rights, title, and interest pass to his unknown heirs.
Subject to all restrictions, conditions and covenants and to all legal highways and easements.
Including a 80 X 14 1992 Oakwood mobile/manufactured home, Title No. 001010960015, VIN ONC28014CK3226028.
This property is being sold to produce the sum of $36,484.72, together with interest at the rate of 11.13% per annum from September 1, 2011 until paid; plus costs and fees of this action; reimbursement for attorney's fees in this action; sums advanced in payment of ad valorem taxes, insurance premiums, winterization, or in preservation of the real estate; plus late fees, costs, attorney's fees and other advances made pursuant to the terms of the Note.
The property shall be sold upon the following terms and conditions:
1) The purchaser shall be required to pay ten percent (10%) of the purchase price on the date of the sale, to apply on the purchase price;
2) The balance of the purchase price shall be due and payable, in cash or certified funds, within sixty (60) days from the date of sale;
3) The purchaser shall be required to execute a bond, with good and sufficient surety thereon for the unpaid balance of the purchase price, said bond to bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale, until paid;
4) The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying said bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal, together with all accrued interest thereon;
5) The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay any and all ad valorem taxes on the subject property for the current year and all subsequent taxes and also any delinquent State, County and/or City real estate taxes sold pursuant to the provisions of KRS Chapter 134 to any private purchaser during the pendency of this action;
6) The subject property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and claims of any party to this action, except restrictions and easements thereon appearing of record in the Pendleton County Clerk's Office, if any;
7) Possession of the subject property shall be given to the purchaser upon confirmation of Commissioner's sale, and the Defendants or any persons claiming through them shall have vacated the premises by that time; and
8) Said property shall be sold subject to:
a) Assessments for public improvements levied against the subject property,
b) Existing zoning ordinances, statutes, laws or regulations;
c) Any facts which an accurate survey or inspection of the property may disclose.
Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

MANAGEMENT TRAINEE

Job Description: Management Trainee for newspapers serving several regions in the Midwest

Do you love the media business? The Delphos Herald, Inc. is looking for several entry-level management trainees. The right candidate will learn all they need to know to run a community newspaper publishing operation. We are seeking savvy, hard-working self-starters with strong online computer skills, sales aptitude, excellent written and verbal communications skills, and good spelling ability. The right candidate must have great relationship skills and, above all, the competitive drive to win.

Starting salary is $24,000. Our average management trainee has doubled starting pay within a few years. The Delphos Herald, Inc. has locations in seven states and we need trainees to move into management positions at the locations in those states after an 18-month training period.

We offer an excellent compensation/benefits package, which includes most costs associated with relocating to our communities. This job is challenging and, while not for everyone, provides an opportunity to start a great career in the fast-changing media industry.

To apply, email rgeary@delphosherald.com. Please send a letter describing yourself and your accomplishments. Include details of experience from selling ads for your high school or college newspaper to being an officer of a club, scholastic honors earned or winning a cookie sales contest. Our screening process will include: aptitude tests and background checks, including credit history.

CARD OF THANKS

Cobb Thanks
We, the children of Neva Cobb, want to thank everyone who reached out to us in any way at the loss of our mother. Whether it was with a call or a card, food or flowers, through a memory keepsake or a monetary gift in her memory, a hug, a tear shed with us or most importantly a prayer on our behalf. We especially want to give thanks to the wonderful staff at the ICU at St. Elizabeth in Florence for the care given to Mom in her last days and for their kindness and consideration to us in her final hours; to Danny and Mary and all the caring people at Woodhead Funeral Home for their care for Mom and their warmth and tenderness shown to us in our time of sorrow; to Bro. Conrad Hefner for his support at the hospital and for his kindness at the grave side; to the generous folks at Trinity Baptist Church for opening their doors to us after the services and for the delicious meal and to Harvest Community Church for their love and prayers and for the food contribution to the meal at Trinity; to Debbie Dennie and the caring staff at The Falmouth Outlook for their love and support in the final weeks of Mom's life and for their great care of her memory after her passing and a special thank you to Pastor Yvonne Rednour for her love and support through the many beautiful cards sent, encouraging words shared, visits, prayers and most of all for making the long journey from Florida to Kentucky to be with Mom and offer up prayer as only she can in preparation for her passing, she loved you dearly with good reason.

Mom was a fun-loving lady who loved to dance and to make people laugh and she was good at both. People remember her with a smile and everyone has their own little story to tell. The world is definitely a darker place without her.

To all who touched us in any way in our time of grief and sorrow, we appreciate it more than mere words can express. Our prayer is that in your times of need, God will return to each of you tenfold what you have given to us.

Sincerely,
Karen Hyden, Deanna Cook, Rhonda Barker, Demita Hyatt and James Cobb. 48-11a-nc

Crozier Thanks

The family of Sandy Porter would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their condolences at the loss of our sister, daughter, and aunt. We thank you for cards, visits, messages, texts, calls, food and especially lifting us up in prayer. We want to also thank Woodhead Funeral Home for their care. It all means so much to us and we know that Sandy has found her "Peace in the Valley." God Bless You All. 48-11a-nc

Tackett Thanks

I want to say THANK YOU to the crew who worked in the cold to repair our electric lines. I was cold when I woke up but I lit candles and the burners on my gas stove and soon got warm. I thought how COLD those guys must be, working to get our electric on, so we could stay WARM. This reminded me what Christmas is all about. Jesus came just to DIE for us so WE could LIVE. Think of the sacrifice!
Thanks to Mayor Hart for keeping us informed; also to the one who salted my driveway. -Anna Mary Tackett 48-11a-nc

If you are looking for a friendly and caring dentist for you and your family, contact our dental office today. We have been providing skilled, knowledgeable dental services for 20 years here in Cynthiana. We start seeing patients from the age of 1 years old and beyond and what a difference it makes in preventative care and trust in your dentist. We truly work hard to provide the gentle touch and a strong emphasis on answering all your questions. From the moment you enter our dental office, we want to make sure you are as comfortable as can be, because we understand not many folks like coming to see the dentist. Your smile and dental health are very important in your life and we are here to help get the treatment and care you need. Call our office today for an appointment.

NO COUPONS NEEDED: FOR DISCOUNTS JUST CALL AND COME ON IN AND WE WILL MAKE YOUR DENTISTRY AFFORDABLE.
